Chamber Discusses Need Of Resurfacing Street

At the Chamber of Commerce luncheon held on Monday, the matter of suggestions to be brought before the candidates who are seeking office was brought up for discussion.

It was suggested that steps should be taken to have the main street resurfaced from curb to curb from the postoffice to Bridge Street. During the summer months the merchants along the street are annoyed with the dust that is raised, due to the section of the street from the state highway to the curb being without a hard surface. If this could be resurfaced it would also greatly improve the drainage during the winter months.

FOREST GUARDS ASSUME POSTS

Forest lookouts and patrolmen went on duty in the Truckee area of the Tahoe national forest June 1, and they will remain until the fire season ends next fall.

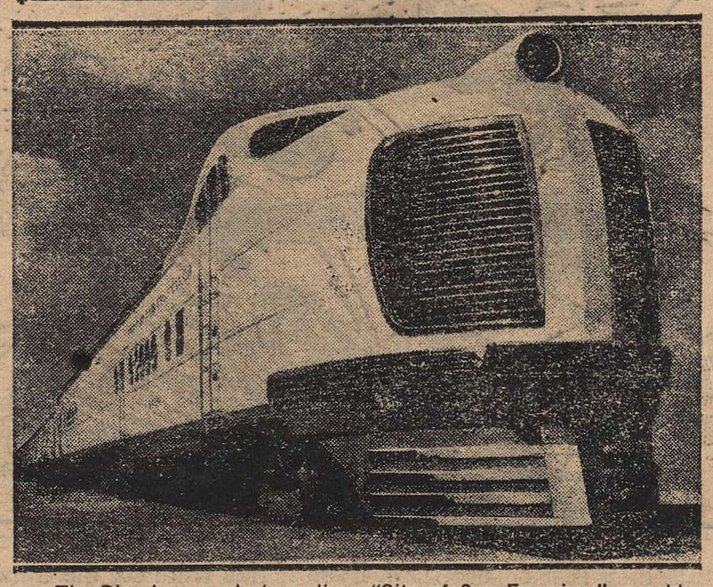
H. I. Snider is the ranger in charge of the Truckee district, with Garth M. Flint as his assistant. Lookouts include W. J. Clark at Zephyr Cove, Harry Callahan at McClellan peak near Virginia City, and Frank Maher at Martis peak. E. M. Stone is the Truckee fire guard, W. T. Arthur, camp-tender at Tahoe City and Frank Cozzalio will be the patrolman on the Truckee highway with his base of operations at Hirschdale.

Amelia Zorich To Teach At Wadsworth

Miss Amelia Zorich, a graduate of the University of Nevada this year has accepted a position as a teacher in the Wadsworth, Nevada high school. Miss Zorich will teach English, history and music.

J. F. Cook of Sacramento was a visitor in town on Memorial Day.

SUPERMODERN S. P. STREAMLINER



The Diesel-powered streamliner "City of San Francisco", capable of speeds in excess of 100 miles an hour, to be placed in service by Southern Pacific, about June 14, between San Francisco and Chicago. Operating on a schedule of 39¾ hours, the new streamliner will cut approximately 19 hours from the fastest time now made on the run. The train has eleven cars, consisting of two power cars, four Pullman sleepers, two coaches, a dining-lounge car, kitchen-dormitory-baggage car and mail-baggage-express car, with a total passenger capacity of 170. It is powered by two 1200-horsepower Diesel engines which generate electricity for eight driving motors.

Highway Work Soon Underway In Region

Harms Bros. of Sacramento who started the work of installing culverts and drainage pipes between Soda Springs and Summit last September and were forced to discontinue the work in November due to severe winter weather, will on Monday resume work on this contract. It is expected that they will be engaged for the next six weeks in completing this work.

Work on the next link of the Hobart Sierraville highway will get underway next week. The section to be constructed will be from Little Truckee Summit to Hobart Mills. Survey of the new section of the highway was completed last summer.

It is expected that work will start within a month on improvements to the Tahoe City-Cal Neva section of the highway around the north end of Lake Tahoe. Many of the curves will be straightened and improved drainage will be included in this work. It is estimated that $50,000 will be spent on this work.

On July 1st bids will also be let for the rebuilding of the Donner Summit highway which was damaged severely by the heavy storms of the past winter.

Truckee Invited To Whiskerino Celebration

The Whiskerinos of the Universe, Nevada County club No. 57 (different varieties) on June 5, in Armory hall, Nevada City, will entertain the ladies. Ted Janiss, Boss Whiskerino, states that there will be a round-up of all the 57 varieties from every part of the county and especially desires that Truckee men shall bring their bushes and their ladies to enter the contests for numerous prizes for whiskers and costumes respectively.

There will be a dance, there will be a Kangaroo court, with legal proceedings of a highly entertaining character, and there will be door prize besides those awarded by solemn committees of judges. The show will begin at 8 o'clock p. m. The Truckee public is cordially invited to come both as spectators and participants.

New Business To Open On Saturday Night

A new business establishment will be added to the business district on Saturday with the opening of the St. Louis.

Mike Calliza, formerly of Reno, and Andrew Oroz are the proprietors of the new establishment.

In addition to wines and liquors they will specialize in Italian dinners.

They are planning their opening for Saturday night with dancing from ten to two o'clock. At midnight a free lunch will be served.

Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Guthridge of Oakland were visitors with relatives in town over the week end.

LEGION CONDUCTS MEMORIAL SERVICES

Memorial Day services were conducted by the Truckee Post, American Legion last Saturday at the Catholic Cemetery and the Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Members of the American Legion marched to the Catholic Cemetery where the grave of Comrade James Sala was decorated and taps sounded. The march continued to the Odd Fellows Cemetery where the program was given. Post Commander Herb Nichter gave the opening remarks and the Rev. G. W. Emigh the invocation. The Wyethia Choral sang two selections "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and "Nearer My God To Thee." Chester F. Gannon gave the address appropriate to Memorial Day. The graves of Comrades Summers, Bander and Sackett were then decorated, during which time Robert Gordon rendered a violin solo.

The American Legion cemetery ritual was read by Past Commander Herb Nichter. Benediction was given by Father Palmer. Taps were sounded at the conclusion of the program.

Nevada County Reunion Will Be Held June 14

The Sacramento Nevada County Club will hold their Ninth Annual Reunion at the State Fair Grounds in Sacramento on June 14.

A large committee are at work making plans for the day. Basket lunch will be held from 12 noon to 1:30 P. M. A program will be presented from 1:30 to 3 P. M. and dancing from 3 P. M. to 6 P. M. There will be races and games for the children.

An invitation is extended to all present and former Nevada County residents to attend this reunion.

Homemaking Class Give Luncheon

The Homemaking Class of the Meadow Lake Union High School entertained their mothers, the school faculty and several guests at a luncheon on Wednesday noon. The luncheon was prepared by the members of the class and gave them an opportunity to display their abilities as cooks.

Awards were made in the dressmaking contest with first prize going to Margaret Gordon, second Ida Stewart and third Dorothy Snider.

District Deputy Visits O. E. S. Chapter

Mrs. Gladys M. Collins, district deputy grand matron of the eighth district of the Order of the Eastern Star made her official visit to Truckee Chapter, on Tuesday night.

A banquet at the Goodfellows Restaurant preceded the meeting.

The Worthy Grand Matron will make her official visit to Truckee Chapter on Saturday night, June 20th.

S. P. Streamliner Passes Through Town

The streamliner "City of San Francisco" passed through Truckee on Tuesday and a large crowd of residents turned out to watch the Southern Pacific Co's. new streamlined train enroute to San Francisco on the first of five trial runs the new flyer will make before it is placed in regular service on June 14.

The train came from the East, gleaming yellow, and carried eleven cars in addition to the big Diesel-powered front car.

The "City of San Francisco" carries all of the latest streamlining devices, from the high, rounded nose topped by a cab for the engine crew, clear back to a pointed rear end which leaves no room for an observation platform. The cars have small, nickel-plated windows. Tops of the cars are painted an autumn brown and the sides are a gleaming yellow in color.

The trial trip made on Tuesday is the result of many months of preparation on the part of the railroad. The Southern Pacific Co. announced that a $100,000 project of track and signal work over the line between San Francisco and Ogden is being completed to meet the increased speed of the streamliner.

Work is being rushed on the installation of special facilities at the company's West Alameda shops for servicing the streamliner. The changes in track are being made to insure safe and comfortable riding at high speeds around curves. Easment spirals are being lengthened on many curves on the line.

Signal work consists of moving out distant signals and extending highway crossing protection curcuits. In addition to the signal equipment, a number of scientifically designed safety devices are being installed.

With the placing of the new train in service, added caution will be needed on the part of automobile drivers and pedestrians when using railroad crossing, as the train moves so noiselessly and at such a great speed.

The streamliner is expected to inaugurate the new service about June 14th. It will operate on a thirty-nine and three-quarter hour schedule, nineteen hours under the fastest runs operating.

Wyethia Club Hold Bridge Luncheon

The Wyethia Club closed their season with a bridge luncheon at the clubhouse on Thursday with a good attendance of members and friends.

Following the luncheon eight tables were in play and Mrs. Martin Nelson of Hobart Mills won first prize at contract and Mrs. A. B. Polyanich won first at auction bridge. The door prize was won by Mrs. C. Edmunds.

During the afternoon the new officers were presented to the members.

The new officers are president, Mrs. Lucille Bick, vice president, Mrs. Flora Titus, secretary, Mrs. Jennie Watkins and treasurer, Mrs. Rose Kielhofer.

The meetings of the club will be discontinued until September.

NRS Officials Certify Men For Employment

C. F. Galligan, district manager of the National Re-employment Service and Jerry Delaney, Nevada County manager were in town on Wednesday to certify men who are eligible for relief work.

The highway work which is to get under way shortly will give all those eligible for work an opportunity to be employed for some time to come.

WPA Inspector Visits Ice Palace Project

Fred Marsh, WPA manager and inspector was in town to make an inspection of the ice palace project on Wednesday.

The first shipment of cement which the WPA are supplying for the ice palace project was received this week. The men are now engaged in pouring the concrete for the walls of the ice rink.

CONTRACT IS LET ON HOBART ROAD

J. R. Reeves of Sacramento Will Build the New Unit From Little Truckee Summit to Hobart Mills.

The national forest service has announced the $105,000 contract for the grading of the last 4.3 miles in the seventeen mile section from Sierraville to Hobart Mills was awarded to J. R. Reeves of Sacramento by the United States Bureau of Public Roads, who will supervise the construction.

The 780 mile long Sierra Way moved a step farther towards completion by the awarding of this contract.

Nine miles of the Sierraville-Hobart Mills section was built out of Sierraville to the Little Truckee Summit in 1936. This is followed by 3.7 miles of low standard road, which connects with the 4.3 miles section. The low standard road may be built to high standard within the next year.

With the completion of the Sierraville-Hobart Mills unit, all but about sixty miles of the northermost 300 miles of the Sierra way from Mount Shasta, Siskiyou County to Meyers, ElDorado County will be of intermediate or high standard construction.

School Trustee Election On Friday Aftenoon

The election for school trustees for the Truckee Grammar Schol and the Meadow Lake Union High School will be held on Friday afternoon at the office of the Justice of Peace in the Riverside Hotel.

R. A. Tonini is the only candidate to file for the position on the Grammar School board.

There are two trustees to be elected on the high school board. Those who have filed are Mrs. Lotta Bryant and Adloph Schmidt, who are asking for re-election and James Percy of Hobart Mills.

NEVADA TO KEEP TAHOE ROAD OPEN

Proposing to keep the Nevada highway around Lake Tahoe, and the Clear Creek grade from Carson City to the lake, open the year around the Nevada state highway department is concluding plans to erect a maintenance station near Spooners station, it was announced.

The maintenance station will be near the junction of the north and south roads around the lake.

The department, according to R. A. Allen, state highway engineer, believes that the road is of sufficient importance to warrant the program and that a maintenance station at Spooners, where machinery can be housed and workers stationed, will make it possible to keep the road clear of snow practically all winter.

Mrs. Snider Entertains For Mrs. Magee

Mrs. H. I. Snider entertained on Wednesday afternoon, May 27, in honor of Mrs. John Magee, who will leave on Jnue 10 to join her husband who is now district ranger of the Pinecrest district of the Sierra National Forest.

Bridge was enjoyed during the afternoon with first prize won by Mrs. S. Marshall Richardson.

Dainty refreshments were served at the card tables at the conclusion of the bridge game.

The guests included; Mrs. G. R. Schrader, Mrs. L. F. Smith, Mrs. Frank McCaslim and Mrs. Anderson of Nevada City, Mrs. Hodgson of Big Bend, Mrs. S. Marshall Richardson the guest of honor and the hostess.

Wilmer and LeRoy Tong of Berkeley have arrived to spend the summer at the home of their mother, Mrs. Columbia Tong.

Paul Seeley of Stockton visited with friends in town for several days.

By United Press

THE GUFFEY COAL ACT

Decision of the U. S. Supreme court outlawing the Guffey Coal Act evoked widely divergent opinions from California editors.

New deal opponents hailed the action as a just reprimand to congress for exceeding constitutional authority; administration supporters saw the need for amending the constitution if progressive legislation were to prevail.

The fate of the Guffey bill, according to the Coalinga Daily Record "was a foregone conclusion, the President himself having been warned by the attorney general that it would not stand the constitutional test. * * * State rights, individual rights and personal liberties of the citizens of the United States are fully guaranteed under the constitution. Fortunately for the people the constitution provided the supreme court, whose duty it is to see that the legislative branch (Congress) and the executive department (the president) do not over step their legal authority and infringe on the rights of the citizenry and other divisions of government."

"As in its previous decisions concerning the New Deal," said the Santa Rosa Press Democrat, "the court objects not so much to what was done as it does to how the desired results were to be brought about. The federal government is without power to regulate such matters, the court holds, intrastate commerce being affected and its regulation lying solely within the province of the several states. * * * If the nation as a whole thinks the improvements suggested under the terms of the New Deal are necessary or desirable, a way will be found to bring these changes about, regardless of any obstacles placed in the way, no matter how or by whom."

"The nation," notes the Marysville Appeal-Democrat, "has, in its power to amend the federal constitution, the means of attaining any goal the people want to reach. On the other hand the supreme court is the only safeguard for protection of the constitution upon which the American system of government is founded. Amendment of the constitution may be the long way around, but it also is the safe way unless we wish to lose constitutional rights far more important than the issues involved in any one act of congressional legislation."

It is just such decisions, remarked the Los Angeles Illustrated Daily News, "which bring into action the mighty forces of representative government. A court can veto the acts of the lawful agents of the people—their lawmakers and their administrators, but it cannot veto the people themselves. * * * An opinion of the court is final, but in the last analysis it is only an opinion. It rests with the people to determine first what they desire and then to make such desire possible under the constitution. To change the constitution takes time, it is true, but it takes a much longer time to change the membership of the supreme court."

The decision, state the Stockton Record, "denies the government the right to regulate a specific intrastate industry. * * * The New Deal must either abandon its attempts to regulate such industry or move to amend the constitution to broaden the federal powers. The president has not indicated that he will seek such a change, but with the increasing number of supreme court blows to the will of the people who sought a New Deal, it will make him a popular issue if he chooses to go on it."

ARE WE DREAMING?

The way they're slashing rates on power, gas, telephones and transportation in California these days—voluntarily—has many an old timer who remembers lusty rate battles of an earlier day pinching himself to make sure it's not just a dream.

Last week another million dollars a year plopped into the public's lap in the form of a saving to all who travel by stage. Pacific Greyhound lines petitioned the Railroad Commisison for permission to slash fares on all its routes some twenty per cent, effective July 1. A sample: from San Francisco to Los Angeles the $8 charge will go down to $6.25.

Add to that the two and a half millions yearly pared recently from our bills by the gas people, the other millions to be saved by power cuts, and the beginning of phone rate reductions in some areas—all voluntary—and you understand why old timers are bewildered, though pleased.

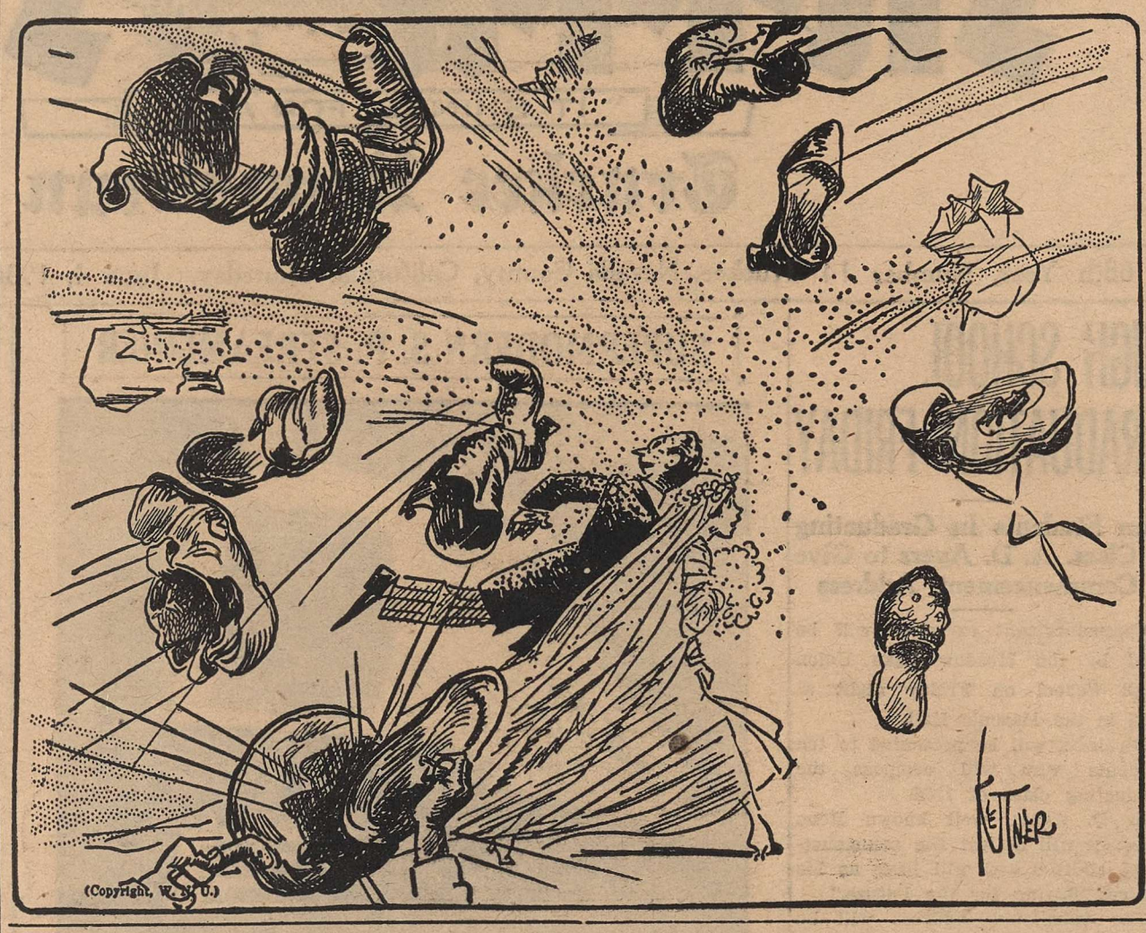
Cynics may say the public utilities are keeping just a jump ahead of Railroad Commission orders to slash rates, or that they fear competition. Even if this were so, the trend toward voluntary action is still good news. Exhaustive study of rates by the Commission costs the public money. Cut-throat competition among public utilities causes wasteful duplication of services, which waste the public also pays. Voluntary cuts are better.

Actually, it has all come about because good times are returning and people are using more gas, power and phones, and are travelling more, with greater volume permitting reduction of rates.

But what do all the whys and wherefores matter? A housewife now knows she can buy more steak if it costs less to fry, and a vacationist now knows he can spend more at the seashore if it costs less to get there.

That's the good news.

Good Luck



RHODODENDRONS IN THE HIMALAYAS

Like all good things, it is possible to have too much, even of a forest. African travellers have found this. And Mr. James and I were to find this two years later in Manchuria. The first plunge into a forest is always delightful. But if for weeks together you can see nothing but forest and hardly see the sky, and never have any outlook, you weary of the forest as you never weary even of the desert. You feel cramped and oppressed. You feel as in a cage, and long to push aside the trees and get some breadth of outlook. In this Kangra forest there was, however, none of this oppression. I was not shut in. From many a knoll and spur or opening in the forest I could get far distant views over the valley itself—over the first ripples of the rising Himalaya, each ripple a deeper and deeper purple, as it shaded off towards the plains of India, and all telling of distance, colour, warmth and mystery. Or, on the other hand, I could look upward towards the great Himalayan range and see its glistening snowy summits rising close at hand above the trees. I had no sence of confinement whatever. And the serene, intense blue sky could everywhere be seen above and between the trees. The air was neither too hot nor too cold, neither exhausting nor chilling.

And I never now in England, nor in Scotland, see a pine-tree top against a deep blue sky, or smell the fragrance of the pines on a dry summer day, without thinking of this Himalayan forest. For this forest was mainly of pines and firs and spruces, and where I stood, mostly of the stately deodar. There was nothing like the wealth of plant and insect life there is at the same altitude in the Sikkim Himalaya—no semi-tropical vegetation—no tree-ferns, no orchids no vibrating hum of insect life, and nothing like the same number of butterflies. And of what there was of plant and bird and insect life I observed but little. For, as I have said, what tendencies I had had to study natural history had been left undeveloped. And, besides, my mind was now thrown far forward to great mountains still farther on that I wanted to reach. I was marching from twenty to twenty-five miles a day in order to see them. And I paused far too little to enjoy the country I was actually passing through at the moment.

Still, ignoramus as I was in all that concerned natural history, there were a few things I could not help observing, and hurried as I was I could not help but enjoy them. First there were the deodars. This forest was the home of the deodar cedar, and all who have been to Simla know its beauty. It is akin to the Cedars of Lebanon, and I have seen a very old deodar in Kashmir, growing quite alone, which spread out its branches far and wide very like the Lebanon tree as we see it in an English garden. But in the forest, the deodar has not room to expand, so it grows straight and stately, but with those gracefully turned-up boughs like the corners of a pagoda roof. It is a tree very dear to Englishmen in India, bringing with it memories of many a glorious "leave" from sweltering plains and dark depression to a cool hill-station and a cheery life.

But most conspicuous at this season were the crimson rhododendrons—not mere shrubs, but regular trees growing like huge flowers in among the pines and cedars, and lighting up the dark green forest with their glowing red. Often they were so closely intermingled with the cedars as to make it seem as if the deep red blossoms were springing from the deodars themselves. These rhododendrons are in bloom along the Himalaya at this time of year from Kangra right down to Sikkim, the great home of the rhododendrons, where grow also mauve and white and yellow coloured species; and if one could only fly along the Himalaya like a bird, what a lovely band of colour in the greens below the snows this rhododendron stretch would show!—Sir Francis Younghusband, in "Wonders of the Himalaya."

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO June 4 —(UP)— California's snappiest special legislative session accomplished a liberalized act, impossible two years ago, when it approved the Hornblower amendment making mandatory the payment of a $35 monthly pension to eligible aged.

The difference in attitude between the two houses was illustrated clearly by maneuvering on the bill which went through the 80-member assembly without a dissenting vote, then ran into trouble in the senate.

For once, the assembly united in a major fight, and refused to act upon the administration's $2,500,000 dole measure until the senate had passed the pension bill. Faced with a serious deadlock, the senate argued three hours, in committee and on the floor, then barely mustered the necessary 27 votes (two thirds majority) to send the bill to the governor. Seven senators voted against the measure.

Objection was based not upon the principal of a higher pension, but upon the arguments that the state and counties would have to spend more money; the state had made no provision to finance the increase; some aged persons do not need so much as others, and there should be some latitude in its administration.

Proponents assailed counties for holding the present average pension down to $23, refusing to accept applications and otherwise delaying the extension of aid to the aged.

"We pay indigent transients a dole of $35 or $40; why shouldn't we pay our needy, deserving aged a similar amount and take them off the relief rolls" was a keynote question sounded throughout the discussion.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam told his associates he would sign the bill.

When the deadlock loomed, he was asked why he did not instruct his senate leaders to permit its passage, "then you could veto it."

"Oh, if the legislature passes it, I'll sign it," he replied.

Merriam included the pension proposal in his official call a short time before the legislature convened and after Assemblyman William Hornblower had been assured of at least 65 supporting votes in the lower house.

Anti - administration revolutions failed to develop along organized lines. After the first day, when legislation moved speedily and it appeared there was a good chance of winding up the session in another day, leaders of the "anti" group appeared to adopt the attitude of:

"What's the use. It's futile to attempt putting our advanced proposals through this legislature. No need of wasting time. Let's get it over with."

Although limited to 14 points in the official program, there was nothing to prevent members from introducing resolutions, and a score of them went over the desk in the assembly. Those carrying the sharpest teeth were tabled after considerable discussion.

Among them was Democratic Assemblyman James Boyle's demand that a committee be appointed to investigate the equalization board's asserted lobbying activities in connection with a proposed constitutional amendment setting up a new liquor control board.

While the debate on this resolution was in progress, board employes were seen slipping into the assembly and calling various members out for conversations. The resolution was tabled, 42 to 31.

Commenting upon it afterward, Boyle said:

"Members of the board, its secretary and lobbyists have been bargaining for votes all afternoon. They have the power, and I'm not surprised my resolution was tabled. Some of the assemblymen probably were fearful they might lose the patronage they enjoy through the board.

Some time before Boyle introduced his resolution, a person close to the board was heard to say:

"If a resolution is introduced in the assembly to investigate the board, there'll be one in the senate to investigate Ray Riley." (Controller Riley is a leader of the fight against the board's proposed liquor initiative).

The threatened Riley resolution did not appear, however, perhaps because the senate was not in session while the assembly was cleaning up its resolutions.

State Waters Yield High

SACRAMENTO May 28 —(UP)— California waters yield three times as much fish as the famous North Sea, according to state officials. The average annual take per square mile of fishing area is 32 tons for California; nine tons for the North Sea area.

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By Swanee

According to the rate with which reservations are pouring in upon Mr. and Mrs. Everett Prusso of Prusso's Forest Inn and Gardens near Ward Creek, a large and enthusiastic gathering will be on hand to enjoy the special dinner on opening night June 13th. None other than Chef G. Martini, formerly of the Whitcomb Hotel and Bohemian Club in San Francisco and famous for his culinary art up and down the Pacific Coast, will be responsible for the delicious and unusual menu being planned. Dinner will be served from 7:00 P. M. on and those desiring to attend are urged to call early for reservations.

A choice of special dinners may be selected, a $1.00 full course meal with choice of fried chicken, charcoal broiled steak or brook trout will be available in addition to a full menu of charcoal broiled steaks.

The lounging room, being rushed to completion by painting contractor Victor Arndt and his coworkers in Monterey rose finish, is bound to prove a popular rendezvous for young and old.

And aside from a lovely corsage of flowers for the lady diners, each dinner guest will receive as a special complimentary souvenir a duck-pin size container of old vintage port or sherry, and pullman size bottle of gin or Bourbon.

A filet mignion dinner at $1.50 and a special frog leg full course meal will be features of the evening. Mr. Prusso wishes it clearly understood that the meals served on opening night will be typical of those offered throughout the season and will not vary in quality or deliciousness.

Breakfasts, club breakfasts, 'brunch,' and special lunches will be served at any desired hour and crisp tasty salads will be an outstanding specialty. Late evening suppers will always be available featuring besides sandwiches for two, all regular orders such as rarebit, etc.

Mixed drinks will be handled by a competent, attendant who will be pleased to mix your favorite drink according to your individual taste. The special opening night cocktail Mr. Prusso has, with dutiful affection, named after his charming wife—the "Van Nessa"—a delicious rum sour we believe destined to become as famously popular as his charming and distinctive resort.

Watch the column for special opening announcement on June13th and if you would enjoy a congenial evening and delectable dinner phone in your reservations early to Tahoe City 50.

Guests at the Everett Prusso home over the week end included Miss Theda Prusso of San Leandro, their duaghter; Miss Marjorie Scully and Idwin Sutherland of Oakland, Alton Fuller and Sherwood Jones of Tonipah and Miss Merle Davis of Oakland.

Tahoe creeks and outlying lakes opened for fishing season on the 30th with the result that Master Sherwood Prusso and James Worden went up Ward Creek and caught a fine 3 ½ pound trout. This was not so exciting as the fact that the big fellow broke the line in his tussle to get away, so the boys found it necessary, despite the icy creek waters, to jump in after him. Their efforts were successful and the Prusso family enjoyed trout dinner that night.

We experienced one of those thrills that come once in a lifetime on Sunday last when we were accorded the rare honor of being visited by none other than The Tod Powell, the San Francisco Chronicle's 'Woodsman,' for whose writings and column we have always felt a decided weakness. He is always read with interest and enthusiasm by local sportsmen and gives this vicinity far more publicity than other sports writers. Mr. Powell accompanied by Marshall Lowell of Auburn and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Matthews and a friend, enjoyed some fishing during his two day vacation stay at Pomin's resort, catching a 3½ pound trout off the resort's wharf. He visited while here at the A. R. Westphal estate where Mr. and Mrs. Westphal entertained the party.

Other well known personages who took a run up to Tahoe over the vacation week end were Matt Green, in apparently improved health, and Gene Rogers who spent the two day holiday with his mother, Mrs. Nina Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lewis of the Fish Hatchery are driving a lovely new Nash.

Harry Bear of San Francisco, a half hour after arriving at Tahoe for a two months visit, had the mistortune to fall from the roof of his house at Homewood, breaking both of his legs. He was given first aid by Dr. C. B. Pedersen at his offices at the Tavern and rushed to Hobart Mills Hospital where Dr. Harold Schwing took X-rays of the injured members and where he will be confined for two months. His condition, aside from nervousness and shock, was reported satisfactory at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mein Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Scudder of San Francisco occupied the Harry Poet home at Tahoe over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wehrman of Tahoe enjoyed a two day motor trip north last week going as far as Eureka, Mt. Lassen and Quincy.

Miss Adeline Peters and Mildred Lamb of Burlingame were guests at the Van Luven home in the Bettencourt Tract over the week end.

Leo Perelli, Tahoe's golf pro is again being seen in action on the local links, which are being patronized more and more daily. A large crowd was seen on the greens over the holidays despite the showers and cold weather which visited the region generally.

Snow-plants and 'Pollen-itis' (an illness caused by drinking the pollen filled water) are being noted about the region daily. The snow plants are most plentiful this year, while many homes have one or two members ill from the unpleasant spring nuisance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Charles Harris, owners of a charming home in Timberland Tract were visitors at Tahoe recently, having just returned from a motor jaunt and sea voyage which took them to Vancouver, Victoria and other points. They plan to return for the summer shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Adcinelli and daughter Adele, Beth Kennerly and James Edward, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Ferrier of Concord spent the holidays at the Adcinelli summer home in Timberland Tract.

Mrs. Charles Swanson left on Monday for Oakland where she will be detained on legal business for a week or more.

Mrs. H. H. Hull of Tahoe enjoyed a visit in San Francisco with relatives over Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Westphal and Mr. Costa of San Francisco arrived at Tahoe from San Francisco last week.

Ralph Mantifel, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mantiful of the English Villa will receive from his father as a graduation present this year, an ice cream parlor which he will operate during the summer months beginning about the 15th of June. Equipment is being installed this week, and the young man hopes to launch himself on a successful business career with the patronage of his many friends invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Leach of the Mt. Diablo Country Club, also residents of Timberland Tract enjoyed the holidays at Tahoe with their family. They return for the summer season in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bear arrived from San Francisco on Friday last to spend several months at Tahoe.

The graduating exercises of the Tahoe High School were held with those of the main Placer Union High School at Auburn, on Tuesday, June 2nd. The two Tahoe graduates, Carl Bechdolt, Jr. and James Word, en were accompanied on their trip to Auburn by Mrs. Bliss Hinkle, teacher of the Tahoe branch.

Many festivities have been given in honor of the graduates during the last week, among them a very pleasant party for the graduates, their schoolmates, alumni and friends given by Mrs. Bechdolt and Mrs. Worden at the High School on Tuesday night. Both boys were the recipient of many lovely gifts.

The Friday afternoon Assembly at the Grammar School brings many of the mothers and friends to the interesting exercises every week. The fine new auditorium is enjoyed by pupils, teachers and friends alike. The Assembly begins at 1:30 and consists of extracts from the work of the previous week, musical selections and various other well-executed offerings.

Matt Green was a business visitor in Tahoe, Reno and vicinity for several days this week.

Miss Donaldine Grass, Instructor in the Physical Education Department of Sacramento Junior College has opened her summer home on the Dollar Hill for the season. She had as her guest over the week end, Miss Frances Frater, Instructor in the Dramatic Art Department at Junior College.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Duncan of Diamond Springs spent the week end at Tahoe renewing old friendships and spending many happy hours on the Lake where they were successful in landing several large fish. Mrs. Duncan's brother, Mr. Jack Berg is employed at the Ehrman estate for the season.

Holland Franzee, of the Sacramento Junior College Music staff is occupying his summer home in Lake Forest Unit Three. His family will join him in a few days.

Tahoe friends are welcoming back Mrs. Emma Wehrman, one of our oldest residents. Mrs. Wehrman spent the winter with relatives in Forest Hill, Sacramento and the Bay Region.

A fine new Studebaker sedan was the graduation gift from his parents Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bechdolt, which gladdened Carl Jr.'s heart.

Art Ollson of Modesto has arrived at Tahoe, where he will spend the summer. Mr. Ollson caught a fine 11½ pound LochLeven in the lake on Monday.

Many large fish are being brought in these days from the lake. Dr. C. B. Pedersen is one of our consistently lucky fishermen, among whose recent catches was a 11½ pound trout. The Doctor adds to his interest in fishing and winter sports, a profound knowledge of the flowers and trees of the lake region which is one of his many hobbies.

Bob Scates has returned to Tahoe for the summer season and is expecting the young people's well well loved Bob Southers in a few days.

John Stevens of Tahoe City, has accepted a position on the office staff of Brockway Hotel for the summer.

Many of the resorts were completely filled up over the week end, which seems to augur well for a busy season.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Hanson of Reno and Brockway brought their new hydroplane, Singer Miss 2nd, to Tahoe on Monday for a trial test run in preparation for the speed boat races on the lake.

Mr. Hanson reports that the altitude of the lake cuts his speed down an approximate 8 miles per hour. The Singer Miss 2nd. is powered by a Lycoming racing motor of 155 horsepower and took 2nd place in the 225 cubic inch class at the Stockton Regatta last Sunday, and 2nd place in the 718 cubic inch class at the same meet. Mr. Hanson,, who is an ardent speed boat enthusiast expects to spend every week end at the lake in preparation for the coming races.

HOBART MILLS

The automobile traffic was heavy through Hobart Mills over the Memorial Day week end. The unsettled weather did not seem to keep people home and the streams in this vicinity were lined with many fishing parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oliver and son of Modesto visited in town over the week end and to enjoy the opening days of the fishing season at Lake Independence.

Mrs. T. K. Oliver and family of Berkeley visited at their home over the week end.

Mrs. Irma Atkins who has taught the Hobart School the past two years has returned to her home at Nevada City, where she will spend the summer. The trustees have hired Mrs. Atkins to teach again next year.

The closing exercises of the Hobart School were well attended on Friday afternoon at the Hobart Hall. The two boys who graduated from the Overton School were presented with their diplomas by Mrs. E. K. Wilson a member of the school board. They expect to enter high school next fall.

Mrs. Matilda Passenetti arrived from Grass Valley on Friday and is visiting at the home of her daughter Mrs. Dan Knies and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cuddleback of Sacramento spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mrs. Cuddleback's parents Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gates and family.

Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Mack were Reno visitors on Sunday.

Mrs. Steve Gadda and her son Pete Test of Reno were week end guests at their home in town. Pete Test is driving a new Ford car.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson accompanied by Charles Tucker enjoyed a trip around Lake Tahoe on Sunday.

Mrs. Richard Burton has arrived here from Redding where she has been residing during the winter, and will make her home here this summer.

Mrs. Lester Edwards spent the week end in Oakland where she visited her husband J. L. Edwards who is employed there.

BUILDING A TAHOE GARDEN STEP BY STEP

Preparing the ground for a beautiful showing of annuals and perennials.

The successful making and keeping of successful flower beds lies largely in the preparation of the soil. Before planting, spade the ground up about the depth of the spade or fork, adding well rotted manure, a little lime and peat. Spade all together thoroughly and wet down well for two or three days, planting after this the flowers.

For the successful rock garden, sunshine is essential for your location as well as good drainage. If ground is flat dig a valley and build a mound. If you have an uneven corner, take advantage of it for your rock garden. Next gather your stones together, selecting various sizes, of uneven, irregular flattened shapes. Uniformity of size and shape should be avoided, with no bricks or concrete fragments included. Too large or too small sizes are also undesirable. Soil is important. Mix a good porous garden loam or black dirt with equal portions of gritty sand and vegetable fibre which may be leaf mold or decayed wood, turf or peat.

Perennials, Annuals and Rock Plants will be discussed in next week's issue.

Watch for it!

OIL BURNING HEATER

With this new, up-to-date heater you have no wood or coal to lug in — no dirt and ashes to shovel out. It operates automatically, giving you full heating comfort, even in the coldest weather. The construction is the most efficient known. Giant size heating surfaces and long fire travel extract more heat before the hot gases reach the chimney.

Come in at your first opportunity to look it over. We have other sizes and models too, at prices that are right.

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, June 7, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "God the Only Cause and Creator," Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein. He hath shewed his people the power of his works, that he may give them the heritage of the heathen. The works of his hands are verity and judgment; all his commandments are sure, They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness" (Ps. 11:2, 6-8).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. They have their day before the permanent facts and their perfection in Spirit appear. The crude creations of mortal thought must finally give place to the glorious forms which we sometimes behold in the camera of divine Mind, when the mental picture is spiritual and eternal" (pp. 263, 264).

State Parks Offer Many Inducements

SACRAMENTO May 28 —(UP)— California state parks offer vacationists everything that can be found in famous European playgrounds including the Alps and the Riviera, according to officials of the state department of natural resources.

Every variety of vacation land is included in the state parks, from the virgin redwoods of Hiouchi to the octoillos of Borego—from the ermerald snow waters of Tahoe to the sunbathed sands of Santa Monica beach—the officials said.

Last year nearly 7,000,000 persons visited the state parks and it was anticipated that even a greater number would take advantage of the public playgrounds this year inasmuch as 500,000 persons already have visited parks during 1936 and the season has just started.

"Thirty-five of the state parks have lake, stream and ocean fishing areas," a report explained. "Camping, hiking and horseback riding, dancing, golf, tennis, baseball and even dramatics are a few of the recreative diversions also to be found.

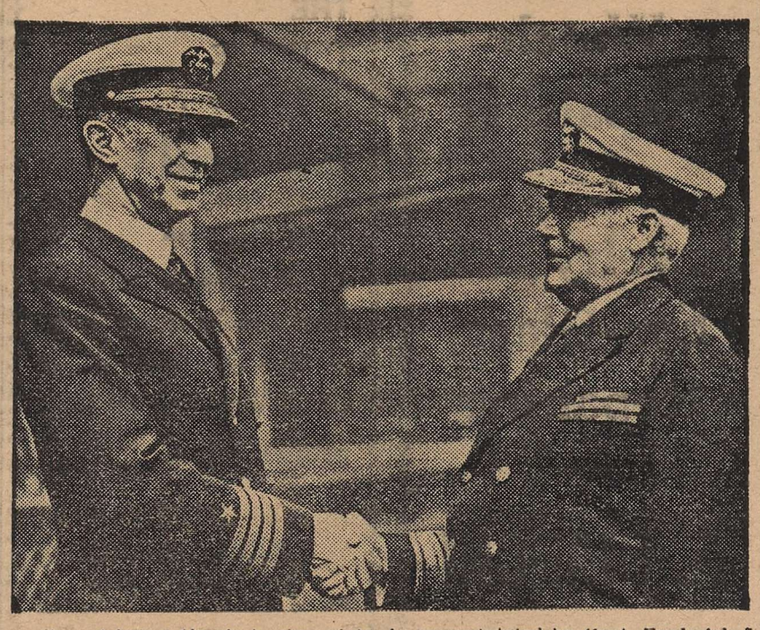
"Although admission to the state parks is free, it has been found advisable to make small charges for the maintenance of facilities which the public demands for convenience and pleasure.

"Included in these service charges is a $2 season ticket which entitles the holder and occupants of his car to park and picnic, or camp two days and nights in each state park area where such activities are permitted.

The report further pointed out that many new facilities have been provided in parks since the close of the last park season.

"Campgrounds have been provided in parks not thus previously equipped, as well as picnic areas with shelters, fireyplaces, tables and other conveniences."

Admiral Laning Assumes Command



Rear Admiral Harris Laning, right, is congratulated by Capt. Frederick L. Oliver after Admiral Laning assumed command of the Third naval district at ceremonies held at the Brooklyn navy yard, to succeed Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, Jr., who retired. Captain Oliver had been acting commandant of the district since Admiral Stirling's retirement.

Fish and Game Tell How To Care For Catch

SACRAMENTO May 28 —(UP)— It's one thing to catch trout and still another to get them home in good condition.

Because this latter problem has resulted in the loss of thousands of pounds of fish, annually, the state division of fish and game suggests that fish be cared for as follows:

"Clean your fish as soon as possible, being sure to remove the gills, then wash and hang up to dry out. Do not put any more water on them. Hang them outside at night, making sure they do not touch each other.

"To keep the trout several days before taking home, lay out over night to drain, then pack in willow boughs or sod grass, a layer of fish and a layer of grass.

"Roll them up during the day in a blanket or damp gunny sack and lay out each night to air and cool."

Lassen Loop Highway To Be Open July 1

MINERAL May 28 —(UP)—Automobile travel over the scenic Lassen Peak Loop highway in Lassen Volcanic National park may be possible by July1, officials stated recently in reporting on snow removal operations.

The work of clearing roadways is being carried forward on a daily 24-hour basis, the officials said. A heavy snow pack, averaging 13 feet in depth at higher altitudes, resulted from the severe winter storms.

The loop road at present is open from the Manzanita lake entrance to Hat Lake, but is closed on the southwest side of the park at Sulphur Works station.

Demands For Space At State Fair Heavy

SACRAMENTO May 28 —(UP)— Demands for space at the 1936 state fair here caused officials to predict this year's annual exposition will be the largest in its history.

More applications for commercial exhibits had been received up to May 15 than ever before, according to Secretary-Manager Charles W. Paine. Indication that the racing program will prove an unprecedented attraction was evidenced by receipt of a large number of entires.

An Aim in Life

A WRITER once said, "An aim in life is the only fortune worth the finding; and it is not to be found in foreign lands, but in the heart itself." The trend of education lies more and more toward establishing "in the heart itself" higher aims and motives for living. It is to the advantage of society that wrongdoers are being taught repentance and reformation, and are in many cases being given extended opportunities to develop their talents and usefulness. Education that promotes temperance, honesty, gentleness, reciprocity, is an asset, for as higher, holier aims are firmly planted and unfolded within the heart of each world citizen, so will community, national, and international relations be measurably improved. Righteous aims are to be esteemed above money and jewels, for the fortunes they bring are indestructible and of inestimable worth.

Certain Bible characters had aims in life, holy and commendable. Who, after reading of Daniel's spiritual insight and ability to subdue lions, has not felt a greater desire to know Daniel's God, who "delivereth and rescueth"? Daniel did not claim to be unique. He explained his rescue on the basis of innocency before God and his harmlessness before Darius, his king. Previously, when called upon to interpret the dream of king Nebuchadnezzar, he said (Daniel 2:30), "This secret is not revealed to me for any wisdom that I have more than any living." Who that has studied the life of Moses, his meekness, courage, spirituality, has not experienced a keener incentive to live according to God's plan? And surely those who read the words and works of the master Christian long to go and do likewise, even though they do not fully perceive the spiritual import of the message. To attain moral excellence is a worthy aim for anyone.

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy has given the world this viewpoint: "One's aim, a point beyond faith, should be to find the footsteps of Truth, the way to health and holiness." And a few pages farther on she tells how this may be accomplished: "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual,—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off" (pp. 241, 265). . . .

Jesus urged all to love God supremely and to regard their neighbor with loving-kindness. It is quite true that if we did this, there would be no temptation to break the Ten Commandments; that is, we should live purely and honestly, resisting with success temptations to kill, steal, bear false witness, covet, or commit adultery. We should honor the Father-Mother God, and keep every day holy unto Him.

Aspirations and motives to live rightly are natural and normal to children who have been correctly taught. Often a child is so cognizant of love and goodness as to be protected from harm. He is often so conscious of expressing loving-kindness that he is totally unaware of another's evil thoughts. Parents may early establish in their children an aim in life that incorporates fellowship, generosity, industry, thoughtfulness, and is expressed in daily occupation. . . .

More mature students, also, may guard and guide their thinking in accordance with Truth and Love. One who welcomes and appropriates even faint desires for better living, cherishes them secretly in his heart and strives openly to practice them, finds his life becoming productive, progressive. Consecration to Truth is a character builder, promoting the welfare of the individual and thus elevating world conditions. Evil thoughts and aims, like the house built on the sand, fall eventually, even if for a time they seem clamorous and insistent. The Bible gives us firm foundations for our individual building. . . . —The Christian Science Monitor.

NORDEN NEWS

Inclement weather did not in any way daunt the aspirations of Clarence Libby and Elmer Eversalt, Jr. last Saturday who ventured into the American River Canyon on a fishing expendition. While three inches of new snow covered the ground at Norden, they report favorable weather in the canyon with limit catches of trout brought back to verify their statement. Another trip soon is planned by them with additional friends participating.

June has started off in an unseasonable maner by rain and sleet falling for the most part of Wednesday and showers daily since.

The new Southern Pacific Co. Streamliner train "City of San Francisco" passed through Norden on June 2nd after establishing its schedule on a test run from Ogden to San Francisco. An eastern trip is scheduled for Thursday, June 4th.

Louis Featsent went by the board after making extensive plans to spend his holidays in fishing on Donner Lake due to the weather not being at all favorable.

After a few days in Sacramento visiting relatives and friends Mrs. T. E. Eversalt, Jr. and son Teddy have returned to their home in Norden.

Mrs. James Armbuster is visiting friends and relatives in and about. Applegate for a few days.

Edwin G. Holmes visited among relatives in Sacramento over the holidays.

Mrs. William Seitz and daughter, Evelyn enjoyed a few days at Norden, they came up from Sacramento.

The Ralston family of Sacramento drove to Norden last Friday evening in their recently acquired Plymouth car. Several Norden residents were invited to ride and learn its sterling qualities.

"Pa" Ralston was seen to enjoy the past week end, while his family showed him the scenery from the highway instead of patrolling his district from the Southern Pacific main line.

"Spot" Nagle enjoyed a respite from actual duties last week with a day or so spent in Sacramento on business.

Miss Lucretia Antonicelli of San Francisco has arrived in Norden to be with her parents during school vacation.

Robert Ralston is now connected with B & B 108 at Norden.

What It Means To Be A Parent Teacher Worker

The one thing in the world on which everyone regardless of race, creed or language can agree is the worth of a little child. America is committed to the ideal that every child shall have a fair start in life. The Organized Parenthood of American is a mighty force for worthier homes, better schools and finer communities.

As a member of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers you have a part in helping realize that ideal in your home, your community, in your state and in your nation. Everything that you put into this movement in time, energy, money and spirit helps to magnify the finer and richer values of our civilization. It is an inspiring movement worthy of your best and you may well be proud of your part in it.

Bats In Belfry Should Be Protected

SACRAMENTO, May 28 —(UP)— Bats in the belfry? Then close the belfry.

In other words, information received by state agricultural officials indicate that the bats may appear to be a nuisance, but they are valuable as destroyers of more harmful insects.

The point made in the federal report was that bats should not be destroyed, and if they must be eliminated from buildings the belfry or other section of the building should be closed to discourage the roosting of bats.
